Strong businesses plan for change. They know that being on the front-line of technological innovation and profitable growth requires continuous development of workforce skills and savvy.

CBIT helps you capitalize on these changes by providing training and education designed to help your workforce keep its competitive edge.

WHAT IS CBIT?

The Center for Business and Industry Training was established in 1987 by Prince George's Community College in response to the need of area businesses, government agencies, and non-profit organizations to upgrade the skills of their workers and increase productivity.

CBIT has a history of success.

The program's strength grows out of the community college's mission to anticipate and meet the needs of the community it serves.

No business is too big or too small for CBIT to be absolutely committed to its success.
