Note: This one-year catalog (Fall 2004–Summer 2005) contains a listing of programs of study, courses and other important information. However it does not contain a complete statement of all procedures, policies, rules and regulations. The college has the right to change any academic or other requirements, tuition, fees or other charges, course offerings, course content, programs, procedures, policies, rules and regulations from time to time and without notice. Important information updates will appear in credit course schedules. Departmental policies and procedures may still apply, even if they are not printed in this catalog. Meeting graduation requirements and determining transferability to other institutions are the student's responsibility, even though advisors may assist.

Prince George's Community College is accredited by the Maryland State Department of Education and by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education.
